

LINO PASQUIN

Group Chief Production Officer

Lino Pasquin is Group Chief Production Officer at Golden Goose, reporting directly to CEO Silvio Campara. In his role, he oversees end-to-end product production and industrialization, ensuring quality, compliance, responsible sourcing, and operational excellence across all categories.

Lino joined the Company in 2021 as Product Director and was subsequently promoted to Industrial & Product Director, expanding his responsibilities to include the coordination of the Group's production plants.

Prior to joining Golden Goose, Lino worked at Sergio Rossi, where he held roles of increasing responsibility, including Production & Planning Manager, Head of Supply Chain, and ultimately Operations Director. He began his professional career at Giorgio Armani, initially serving as Supply Chain & Industrial Controller before moving into the role of Planning Manager.

Born in 1982, Lino graduated from University of Padua with a degree in Political Science.